Softlinx announces the release of Oracle UCM Connector for eCopy ShareScan OP 2.0

North Billerica, Massachusetts (March 20, 2007) –Softlinx Inc, a leading supplier of enterprise fax server and integrated document management solutions for over a decade, announced today the release 2.0 of Oracle UCM Connector for eCopy ShareScan OP. This new release supports the latest eCopy SDK 4.0 as well as the support of Canon Meap MFP's.

The new release will expand the coverage of seamless integration between customers' MFP devices and Oracle's Stellent Content Server to remotely capture and index paper documents into the Stellent Content Server repository.

eCopy has provided open and flexible solutions that rapidly integrate paper-based information into existing business processes and applications. eCopy product are used across all industries including legal, healthcare, financial services, manufacturing, and government, transforming the way companies access, modify, distribute, and share information. By leveraging the eCopy technology, Softlinx has developed document connectors that enable paper documents to be properly filed into Stellent Content Server repository and delivered to the ReplixFax Messaging server from any eCopy enabled multi-function devices.

“We are committed to add support of additional remote scan MFP's such as embedded devices to our Document Application Connector product line. With the support of Canon Meap, Oracle UCM users can now leverage their existing investment in copier hardware to automate distributed document capture process and enjoy the benefits of increased office productivity,” said Frank Woo, COO at Softlinx.
