Softlinx and Service Point Join Forces at Oracle OpenWorld

Combined Solutions and Services from Softlinx and Service Point Provide a Full Range of Document Capture, Delivery and Management Solutions to Oracle Enterprise Client Base

North Billerica, MA (October 24, 2007) – Softlinx, a certified Oracle Partner, and Service Point will jointly exhibit at the Oracle OpenWorld conference and show November 11 – 15, 2007 in San Francisco. Complementary products and services of the two companies combine to bring clients complete document capture and management solutions, from scanning to efficiencies in electronic document organization and utilization.

Softlinx and Service Point together offer on-site outsourced scanning of small and large format documents, electronic document capture and delivery, IP-based fax messaging, MFP (multi-function printer) integration to the Oracle Content Management platform, digital mailrooms, and scan/fax/e-mail archiving tools.

“Service Point’s document management service offerings complement Softlinx’ e-document delivery solutions for Oracle ECM users to benefit from combined strengths of the two companies. Joint solutions and services will cover a broader range of enterprise document management requirements whether dealing with unstructured contents in paper form or in various electronic formats,” says Frank Woo, COO of Softlinx.

David Wilson, Global Innovations Manager at Service Point, states, “Softlinx’ Oracle ECM integrated solutions coupled with Service Point’s global reach and on-site capture expertise brings a unique offering to the vast Oracle Enterprise. We are excited about the broad opportunities possible with Oracle’s rich client base.”
